AVOID PAYING PENALTIES (California Vehicle Code Sections 9552-9554) - You must pay registration renewal fees by the due date, even if you are unable to provide a required smog certification and/or evidence of insurance at this time. Paying the full registration renewal fees or the Planned Non-Operation (PNO) fee by the due date prevents penalties; however, solely paying fees is not a permit to operate the vehicle. There is no grace period for payment of the fees.

IF THE FRONT OF THIS NOTICE READS...

- "Smog Certification Required," you may take your vehicle to any Smog Check station.
- "Smog Certification Required at a STAR station," your vehicle must be inspected at one of these stations. Some STAR stations are only authorized to perform inspections, while others perform both inspections and repairs. Effective January 1, 2013, the STAR Program replaces the Gold Shield Program.

Take this notice with you to the Smog Check station. The inspector will scan the barcode on this notice to ensure that the correct vehicle information and test results are electronically sent to DMV. After the test is completed, the station will provide you a Vehicle Inspection Report to keep for your records.

Help clean the air. You may be eligible for $1,500 or $1,000 to retire your vehicle from operation.

Need repair assistance? If your vehicle fails its smog inspection you may be eligible for up to $500 in emissions repairs. Income eligibility requirements apply.

Vehicle testing issues? Referee Centers can verify smog results and inspect unique vehicles.
